Installation & Care for Jeep Wrangler Vehicle Covers #11081.02XX

These Covers are not machine-washable. Shake cover to remove dust, hose it off to remove dirt, and spot clean using a mild soap and water.

In high winds, ensure cover is securely tied down using the loops, cord and the cable security kit. In severe conditions, additional tie-down cords may be required.

Store cover in the provided storage bag. Ensure cover is dry before placing in bag

In freezing weather the cover may freeze to the vehicle. Ensure ice has thawed before attempting to remove the cover.

Do not drive or tow the vehicle with the cover in place. Do not use on a recently painted vehicle. Allow new paint to cure for 6 months before using a car cover. Do not install the cover over hot surfaces, including exhaust pipes.

Should you need to mark the cover with a license plate number or similar identification, use only fabric paint, available at most craft stores. Do not use regular paints or permanent markers.

Removal of the radio antenna before installation of the cover is strongly recommended. However, if you do not want to remove your antenna on a regular basis a provided grommet can be installed.

Keep in mind that this will adversely affect the cover's ability to keep out water in this area. Remove the antenna and fully install the car cover taking special care that it is aligned evenly over the vehicle. Locate and mark the location of the base of the antenna with a pencil.

Remove the car cover. Carefully cut a ½ inch "X" over the mark you made in the cover. Align the top and bottom halves of the grommet on either side of the "x" hole in the cover and rest them against a hard surface. Firmly press the two halves of the grommet together until they lock. It may be necessary to gently strike with a non-marring mallet in order to engage the two halves.

For future use make sure the grommet is slid over the antenna first before installing the mirrors into the mirror pockets.

Install the cover by unfolding or unrolling along the length of the vehicle. Fit the mirror pockets over the mirrors first, then carefully extend the cover to snugly fit over each end of the vehicle.

Remove in the opposite order: loosen each end of the cover first, remove mirrors from the mirror pockets, then fold the cover back onto itself before folding or rolling the cover along the length of the vehicle.
